CH502-o History of World Christianity II: Reformation and Globalization

Christianity has always been a global faith, quickly spreading north, south, east and west of Palestine. However, around the 16th century, that process expanded greatly, as missionaries and immigrants brought Christianity to Asia, Africa and the Americas. At the same time, reformers were calling for a return to early Christian belief and practice in Europe. The twin processes of globalization and reformation characterized ensuing centuries of Christian development, as increasingly diverse European Christians sought to spread their faith to newly encountered people and continents. You will track this evangelicalism as both a result of European reformations and participant in further globalizations. Finally, you will be asked to integrate this knowledge with your own spiritual, theological and vocational commitments.

Doctor of Ministry

DM718-1 Missional Theology

Classroom 2

Monday, October 1 – Thursday, October 4

8am – 4:50pm

The impulse for missional approach to the church arises from both a careful reading of the biblical narrative and deep reflection on fundamental issues of theology. In this course, it will be argued that biblical theology is essentially missional theology because it is rooted in the being and nature of the triune God revealed in the person and work of Jesus Christ and His Spirit. After a preliminary discussion of the role of pastors as church theologians, we will investigate, in turn, the missional dimensions of theology proper, soteriology, and ecclesiology. In the process, we hope to illuminate these subjects in new and personally transforming ways, for both the students and the churches they serve.
