This course will help you deepen your understanding of the faith as you trace the growth of Christianity from Pentecost to early Protestantism. Sharpen your discernment as you engage both the tensions of intercultural transmission as well as the transitions occasioned by new historical contexts. We will tackle early church debates over Christology, Canon, and Christendom, as well as track the development of church government, piety, sacraments, and theology into the “middle ages” and up to the early modern calls for reform. All along, you will marvel at how the faith once and for all delivered to the saints is freshly articulated in contexts as diverse as Ireland, Ethiopia, India, and China.

CH502-o History of World Christianity II: Reformation and Globalization

Christianity has always been a global faith, quickly spreading north, south, east and west of Palestine. However, around the 16th century that process expanded greatly, as missionaries and immigrants brought Christianity to Asia, Africa and the Americas. At the same time, reformers were calling for a return to early Christian belief and practice in Europe. The twin processes of globalization and reformation characterized ensuing centuries of Christian development, as increasingly diverse European Christians sought to spread their faith to newly encountered people and continents. You will track this evangelicalism as both a result of European reformations and participant in further globalizations. Finally, you will be asked to integrate this knowledge with your own spiritual, theological and vocational commitments.
